Leavenworth, Kas., Feb. 20.—Mrs. Rose Hudson, wife of John Hudson, a bartender at Milwood, 14 miles north of here, was shot and instantly killed, Monday night, during a raid upon Mrs. Lochner's saloon.

Hudson Had Been Warned.

Hudson had been warned to close his saloon, but refused. About ten o'clock three men entered the place and called for drinks. When served they rapped on the counter and gave a signal. Hudson jumped from behind the bar and grabbed one of the men. In the scuffle a shot was fired, the man carried was discharged, the contents entering the wall. Mrs. Hudson, attracted by the noise, ran screaming into the room, while a mob of 40 men, most of whom wore masks entered in answer to the signal.

The Fatal Shot Fired.

In the melee that followed, Mrs. Hudson was shot in the head by a shotgun, the top of her head being blown off. William Webb, one of the raiders, was shot in the shoulder by a revolver. Nearly a hundred shots were fired. Hudson carried his dying wife into an adjoining room, and the mob retired without wrecking the joint.

Sheriff Everhardy, who went to Milwood, has secured four prisoners two of whom are John and Henry Wilson, young farmers. Others implicated will be arrested. There were no women in the mob, it being composed of farmers, all in disguise.

The Joint-Smashing War Breaks Out in a New Place.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 20.—A special to the Times from Newman, Kas. says:

A band of 30 men and women, armed with hatchets and axes, made an effective raid on a joint here yesterday. Some of the crusaders came from Perry and Thompsonville. The building in which the "joint" was kept was locked, and the jointists forbade the entrance of the reformers, who thereupon broke in the door. They completely demolished a costly cherry bar, a plate glass mirror and other fixtures. There was not much liquor in the place, but it was destroyed.

A friend of the jointist tried to protect the property with a shotgun. One of the crusaders named Garrell, in trying to get possession of the gun was struck on the head with it and seriously injured.

ST. LOUIS WORLD'S FAIR.

The Bill Appropriating Five Millions Passed by the House of Representatives.

THE VOTE RECEIVED WITH APPLAUSE.

The Bill Was Passed, Under Suspension of the Rules, by a Vote of 191 to 41. Some of the Opposition Coming From the Older States of the South.

Washington, Feb. 19.—This was suspension day in the house. The local committee from St. Louis who are here pushing the St. Louis exposition bill were in the gallery in anticipation of action upon the bill in the course of the day. A delegation from the W. C. T. U., who are interested in having the bill amended so as to provide for the closing of the exposition on Sunday and to prohibit the sale of liquor on the grounds, also were in the gallery to watch the fight.

Immediately after the reading of the journal Mr. Tawney (Minn.) chairman of the special committee on the Louisiana Purchase exposition, moved the passage under suspension of the rules of the bill appropriating $5,000,000 for the exposition.

A second was demanded and ordered. This action allowed 20 minutes debate upon a side. Before the debate began, Mr. Lattimer (S. C.) asked unanimous consent to offer the Charleston, S. C., exposition bill as an amendment, but Mr. Hopkins (Ill.) objected.

Mr. Tawney dilated upon the great and overshadowing importance of the event which this proposed exposition was to celebrate, calling attention to the fact that of all expositions held in this country congress had authorized but two—the Centennial celebration at Philadelphia and the exposition at Chicago to commemorate the discovery of America. Congress, he said, had only provided for its own exhibit at other expositions. The magnitude of the event to be celebrated at St. Louis made it proper that congress should authorize it.

Mr. Madrox, (Ga.) opposed the bill. He said he did not imagine his opposition would avail.

"In view of the contract we made at the last session," cried Mr. Tawney "in view of the contract we made at the last session."

"I want to talk about other contracts just as binding," replied Mr. Madrox, who proceeded to recall that manner in which Mr. Cannon, chairman of the appropriations committee, was fighting honest claims.

Moreover, he said, there were to be no public buildings authorized by this congress on account of the gr. with expenditures. The $5,000,000 which congress would give to a private enterprise by this bill, he said, would build fifty necessary public buildings.

He was anxious, he said, to see when the "watchdog of the treasury," Mr. Cannon, stood upon this bill.

Mr. Sims (Tenn.), who followed Mr. Madrox, taunted Mr. Cannon with fighting honest claims of a few hundred dollars, and then remaining quiescent when such a bill as the pending one was before the house.

He declared that Mr. Cannon, if he would exert his influence, could defeat this measure. Mr. Sims declared that no exposition bill was justifiable. He appealed to his democratic colleagues not to vote for the pending measure.

Mr. Cannon said he had consistently and persistently opposed such legislation. He agreed that exposition matters had run wild. But this bill was now upon a footing where it could not be disregarded. He had opposed the paragraph in the sundry civil bill at the last session. It has been placed upon the bill by Senator Cockrell, a democrat, in the senate. He had opposed it with a voice and vote, but it had become a law. St. Louis had complied with its part of the contract, and the government was obligated to comply also. He should, therefore, vote for the pending bill.

The rules were suspended and the bill passed by a vote of 191 to 41. The result was received with applause.

ST. LOUIS DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

Charles Bent Became Suspicious of His Wife, Murdered Her and Committed Suicide.

St. Louis, Feb. 19.—Believing that his pretty young wife was untrue to him and being tired of life for additional reasons, Charles E. Bent shot and mortally wounded her and then killed himself with a bullet from the same revolver at 8:15 Monday morning.

The double tragedy occurred in the rooming house conducted by Bent's aunt, Mrs. Helen Louise Williams. There were no witnesses to the shooting.

MANITOBA APPLES.
The following list of apples were successfully fruited this year in the province of Manitoba: Blushed Calville, Gravenstein Anisette, Sembriske No. 1, Hibernia, Repka Malenka, Lieby, Osttrakoff and Romna of the Russian varieties and Wealthy, Peerless and Patten's Greening of American varieties. The Cheney and Wyant plums also bore good crops.

WHEN TO SPRAY.
The clash between the bees and the orchard men can be easily avoided if only a little common sense is used. It is definitely settled by the best authorities that so far as the orchard is concerned it is not best to spray when the trees are in full bloom, and this is just the time when spraying would kill the bees, which in the pursuit of food are just then doing their most helpful work in securing a perfect fertilization of the blossoms. Spraying before the buds open and again after the fruit is well set gives best results as regards the fruit and at the same time spare the bees.

HOW WE WOULD PLANT AN APPLE ORCHARD.

If the writer wanted to plant an apple orchard in Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, northern Illinois or South Dakota, he would first set the 2-year-old Virginia crab where the trees were to grow in the orchard. The next year he would cut the top of the crab off and graft with such varieties as he wished to grow, not hesitating at all to use partly those choice varieties which on their own roots would be utter failures. On these crab trunks would go Wealthy, Utter's Red, Longfield, Tallman's Sweet, Seek No Further, Northwestern Greening, Golden Russet and a score of others. The weak point in our apple trees in the territory referred to lies in the roots and in the trunk of the tree. This defect can be largely overcome by using the absolutely ironclad crab for roots and trunk. This is not a lengthy item, but if you will heed it it is worth good money to you if you propose to grow apples in the northwest.

JUST LUCK.
Now, here is a queer case: A farmer whom we know, engaged in the stock business upon a very extensive scale, having a thousand head of cattle and never less than 500 hogs on his farm, has never lost a hog by cholera notwithstanding the disease in a malignant epidemic form has swept off every hog in his neighborhood several times. It may be said that his turn will come some day, but inasmuch as he has enjoyed immunity from this disease for over 20 years some other reason must be sought. He certainly violates a reasonable law by keeping so large a number of hogs continuously on the same farm and would naturally be selected as the first man to lose by the ravages of this disease, but his hogs are always well. Such cases as this completely upset all the theories advanced as to the cause of this disease. It is not bred, for his hogs are the product of his cornfields and scavengers of the steer yard. It is not preventives used, for his hogs are never doped. What is it, then? Just his blundering luck, that's all.

Things We Know About Heaven.

Heaven belongs to the unseen. It belongs to the spiritual, and, therefore, cannot be fully known as long as we are in the material. It belongs to the perfectly holy, and, therefore, much of what might be known cannot be perceived or comprehended, for the natural man cannot know things of the Spirit of God, for they are spiritually discerned. No one returns to tell his experience or describe to us what he has seen. Angels' feet are always upon the ladder going from us to God and returning to minister to us, but they minister in silence. We hear no voice as they serve. There are many questions we would like to ask, many questions we do ask, but neither by the written word nor by vision in the night is any answer given. Heaven lies beyond the domain of the present life, and we must wait until we come into the fullness of the Spirit, until we enter the higher sphere of being, before we can know or comprehend its realities and glories and blessings. Such knowledge is as yet too wonderful for us. It is high; we cannot attain it.—United Presbyterian.
